The broom you buy from the Lions clubs will help to furnish lighting for the new Lincoln-Way high school athletic field. It also will help a blind person to find useful and rewarding work in achieving a worthwhile life.

Brooms, whisk brooms and door mats manufactured in the Arkansas Lighthouse for the Blind will be sold throughout the Lincoln-Way school district beginning Saturday, Feb. 6 by Lions club members, with a goal of $3,500 to be met.

Canvassing the entire district will be trucks manned by crews of five men each, arranged by project directors Burton, Bredert of Frankfort, Frenchy Yavorn, Manhattan, John Scarth, Mokena, and Roy Pfeiffer, New Lenox. Don Wennlund, New Lenox, is general chairman.

Every Lion in the four towns will be selling to residents in a definite area assigned to him, with an estimated 8,000 homes to be visited. Stores operated by Lions members will carry the merchandise during the four days of the campaign.

Every dollar obtained will go toward the Lincoln-Way lighting fund, with none to be used by the Lions clubs for their own purposes. Said A. Hunter Chapman, superintendent of the school, "I would like to take this opportunity of expressing our appreciation to the Lions for their interest in the lighting of our athletic field. It is most gratifying to have this wonderful support from the clubs in our district."

"It was financially impossible for our board of education to undertake such a project for several years on account of the site development."

"I know the athletic coaches as well as the boys will welcome the opportunity of utilizing the facilities. I know there will be less interference with the educational program by having games at night rather than in the afternoon."

Howard Ayres, mayor of New Lenox, said:

"I can't think of a more worthy objective nor a better way in which it could be accomplished. Our high school is being helped at the same time as the blind folks."

"The Lions are attempting a wonderful job and we're all behind them," said Herman Evans, mayor of Manhattan, while John Scarth, mayor of Mokena, said:

"All residents of this area should be behind this project. I know those in Mokena will support it wholeheartedly." George Sangmeister, mayor of Frankfort, stated:

"We in Frankfort will cooperate with the Lions clubs 100 percent in this valuable project."

Another enthusiastic endorsement was given by Albert Krusemark, president of the Lincoln-Way board of education, who said:

"The high school board thanks the Lions clubs for their interest in our athletic program. We urge all of our people to support the Lions in their drive."

CANCER CLINIC

There will be a meeting of the Will Grundy County Cancer diagnostic clinic Tuesday, Feb. 9 and 23 from 10 to 11 a.m. All patients attending the clinic must have a referral from or be accompanied by a physician or dentist.

The American motorist, who so often is an Emily Post at a host but a heel at the wheel, will be asked to "Make Courtesy Your Code of the Road."

They Predict a Lions 'Clean Sweep'

The new Lincoln-Way high school athletic field is going to have lighting facilities, if the Lions clubs have their say, as they have prepared, down to the last detail, a four day campaign to sell brooms for that purpose. Enthusiastic endorsement of the project is given to committee chairman Don Wennlund, center, by left to right, Mayor John Scarth, Mokena, Mayor Howard Ayres, New Lenox, and fourth from left Mayor Herman Evans, Manhattan, and right, Mayor George Sangmeister, Frankfort. Public Service Co. Issues Statement On Rate Increases

The new rate increases for Commonwealth Edison company and its Public Service company division which were effective with meter readings starting Feb. 1 will not apply for service prior to Jan. 1.

The company issued the following statement:

We have advised the Illinois Commerce Commission that we will not apply the new rate increase for service prior to January 1.

We have a large number of customers—industrial and large commercial—whose meters are read monthly.

This decision not to apply the new rates for use prior to January 1 will apply equally to all customers including residential and small commercial whose meters are read bi-monthly.

This means all use in December will be billed at the old rates. It applies to both electric and gas customers.

Issue Guide To Aid Self-Employed With Social Security Tax

A special guide sheet to help self-employed persons in correct reporting their net income for social security tax purposes is now available, Harold Whiteside manager of the Joliet social security office, has announced.

This leaflet, "Helpful Guides on Reporting Your Self-Employment Tax," said, has been issued by the Social Security Administration to supplement instructions given with the Federal income tax forms.

Pointing out that social security benefits payable to a self-employed person and his family in his old age, or to his dependents in case of his death, are based on earnings credited to his social security account, Whiteside stressed the importance of correct reporting. "It costs the

Then I heard about the higher earnings that savings earn at Harvey Federal Savings. Dad says these higher earnings are added to his account twice each year. That means there is a big helpful boost in his account every six months. Dad's savings funds are completely safe, too, 'cause at Harvey Federal Savings every account is insured up to $10,000. 6th Annual Nat'l. Children's Dental Health Day

February 1, 1954 has been proclaimed the 6th Annual National Children's Dental Health Day. The Mokena News Bulletin, in cooperation with the Will-Grundy Dental Society and the Will County Health Department presents this informative article on the dental health of our children.

Tooth decay is probably the most common of all diseases. Few people have escaped. Some thing like 95 percent of the nation's population has been afflicted by what the dental profession calls dental caries.

From the beginning, dental caries has annoyed, pained and disfigured the human race. Loss of teeth, difficulty in eating, teeth shifted into ugly positions, even facial deformities are but a few of the ravages that may begin with an ignored pin-point cavity.

Research has given dental scientists several powerful preventive weapons in the age old fight against the disease. As these weapons are put into action, there will be little excuse for the appalling statistics that reflect the seriousness of the dental problem in the best-fed nation on earth.

Now, no child need face the usual prospect of losing nearly 5 teeth from decay by the time he is 21, nor a mouth badly crippled with dental disease by the time he reaches middle age.

The preventive weapons are simple. In brief, they are as follows:

1. Proper use of the toothbrush immediately after eating.

2. A nourishing balanced diet low in sweets.

3. Early detection and treatment of dental disease to prevent more serious ills later.

4. The fluoridation of community water supplies as a dental decay preventive or, in areas without a common water supply, the application of sodium fluoride periodically to the child's teeth.

The child's dental health of tomorrow is determined largely by the parents and teachers of today. To the degree that the preventive weapons for safeguarding a youngster's dental health are placed in operation to that extent will the child be assured a good measure of life-long dental health.

It is the care that teeth receive during childhood that determines to a large degree an individual's dental health thru out his life. Prevention is the key to sound and healthy teeth.

Illinois Farmers' Outlook Letter

Factory lay-offs make many headlines. Unemployment is expected to climb above two million this month, and some further increase is probable in February. This news may be played up to seem to be more important than it really is. Let us check these figures against some records.

Unemployment usually reaches its peak in January or February. Each winter since World War II has had two to five million persons looking for work.

Worst winters were 1949 and 1950. In the first three months of 1949, unemployment averaged 3.3 million. In the winter of 1950, 4.4 million had no jobs.

Last year opened with 1.9 million jobless. Unemployment then declined steadily until August and September when only 1.2 million were looking for work.

Average unemployment in 1953 was lower than in any other year since World War II. In fact, unemployment last year was the lowest of any peacetime year since 1929.

The total civilian labor force numbers about 63 million persons. The two million unemployed represent only about 3 percent of the total. This makes for a rather tight labor situation, especially in some areas.

Much of the present unemployment seems to be centered in steel and other hard goods industries. This is only natural after the very large output of steel and hard goods turned out since the two month strike at the steel mills in 1952.

While news reporters headlined increasing unemployment, the prices of basic materials marched upward. The price advance got under way last summer and early fall.

One measure of the average of prices of a large group of spot commodities touched a bottom in June. This index turned sharply upward at mid-October. It climbed even more rapidly in late December and early January. By January 10 this index nine percent above its summer low, and at its highest level in 15 months.

A companion index measures average prices of commodities for future delivery. This index bottomed in June, advanced for a few weeks, sagged back to the bottom again, and then started upward in October. By January this index of future prices had climbed 10 percent. At that point it was at its highest level in 12 months.

The next few weeks will be a critical testing time for markets because it is the period of big cash take government tax collectors. But the advance in prices in the past three months indicated that there may be more life in the nation's economy than some people think.

February Month For National Heart Fund Campaign

The month of February has been set aside nationally for the 1954 Heart fund campaign. During this month the Illinois Heart association will conduct a drive for funds to combat the leading cause of death, heart disease.

The Illinois Heart association's fair share of the $11,000,000, national goal is $220,000.

The association and its affiliated state and local organizations report that the three major research problems to which Heart fund contributions may help supply answers are:

1. What are the causes of hardening of the arteries?
2. What are the causes of high blood pressure?
3. What are the causes of rheumatic fever?

Harvey Federal Holds 43rd Annual Membership Meet

The forty-third annual meeting of the membership of the Harvey Federal Savings and Loan association re-elected to the Board of Directors Dr. A. R. Anderson, Harvey physician Paul W. Soenksen, owner of the Eagle store; Guy T. Avery, Executive Vice President, Acme Steel company, and William L. Voss, Jr., of Sales Analysis Institute. Voss, who was originally elected to be board of directors on Dec. 11, 1929, is the oldest of the four in point of service on the board.

Other directors whose terms did not expire are Harry W. Vinke, chairman of the Board of South Holland Trust and Savings Bank and president, Wausau Lumber and Coal co., A. Myron Lambert, publisher, The Harvey Tribune; A. C. Brookley Thornton Township high school; Foss P. Miller, assistant treasurer, Wyman-Gordon Co., Harvey; John P. Buck, vice president, Maremont Automotive products, Harvey; and John Bardwick, Jr., president of the association.

At the organization meeting of the board of directors which followed the membership meeting Foss P. Miller was elected to his fifth term as chairman of the board. Other board officers named were A. Myron Lambert, vice chairman of the board and chairman of the executive committee and John Bardwick, Jr., secretary. Bardwick was re-elected to his 25th term as managing officer and was re-named president. Other officers appointed were W. H. Hammer, vice president; Raymond L. Jenkins, vice president and secretary; Esther Cunningham, assistant secretary; Raymond J. Widling, treasurer; Marie R. Williams, assistant treasurer. The board also re-appointed Henry C. Piel counsel who has acted in that capacity since 1933.

In a statement to the membership President Bardwick said: "The year 1953 was a most satisfactory one for the association with a net gain in savings of over a million and a half dollars and with over two and a half million dollars being loaned to homeowners. We expect the year 1954 to also be satisfactory and are looking forward to lending about the same volume and to a net flow of savings averaging better than $100,000.00 per month."

Now in its 44th year, the association was organized in March, 1911 and has been in continuous business since that time.

There seems to be stray dogs roaming the streets in Orland Park. All dogs roaming around town without license tags will be picked up. Owners are asked to protect their pets by not allowing them to run.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bettenhausen of West Point, Neb., who were guests of their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. John Yunker and who attended their golden wedding anniversary, left for their home Monday, Rev. and Mrs. W. J. Cramer of Melrose Park attended the golden anniversary also.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer A. Martz are the proud grandparents of a son born Jan. 28 in St. James hospital, Chicago Heights, to their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Barr of Tinley Park.

Overcrowding in County Schools May Be Cured in 1955

(CNS) Overcrowded conditions in suburban Cook county schools cannot be cured before 1955, according to County School Supt. Noble J. Puffer, who said he is going to ask the 1955 state legislature for an increase in state aid to local schools.

"We can't do anything this season, and that's the tragedy of the situation," said Puffer. The school superintendents' roundtable of northern Illinois has suggested an extra cent of state sales tax, for use by needy school districts, Puffer pointed out, but a yet nothing has been done to put the idea across.

Puffer said that overcrowding in suburban schools is caused by the vast increase in residential construction in Cook county outside of Chicago, coupled with the high wartime birth rate. He said that school building did not keep pace with births and home building.

Puffer's records reveal that during the 1934-44 school year the total enrollment was 98,485, including 66,336 in elementary schools. This year total enrollment is 157,112, including 118,188 in the elementary grades.

The increase in the ten year period is 59.52 percent, with an elementary increase of 78.16 percent and a junior college increase of 21.7 percent. The superintendent said that in 1943 there were 304 elementary school buildings and 21 high school and junior college buildings.

There are now 349 elementary buildings and 27 high schools and junior colleges.

Puffer said that the building figures do not show the total increase in school accommodations as many suburban school districts expanded their facilities. An increase in the number of high school districts also accounts for some of the high school building increase, he said.

The superintendent could not say how many school rooms have been added to the suburban picture in the last ten years.

A bill, introduced during the 1953 legislature but never reported out of committee, would have created a state building authority which could have issued bonds for school buildings.

Builders and developers of suburban property can help alleviate the situation, Puffer said over and above any aid sought from the legislature. He suggested that all developers set aside a central plot for school use, which would create good will for property buyers and would enable school districts to obtain good sites without condemning residential property.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

If a new idea goes through, it probably cost U. S. taxpayers a few more million dollars.

The most interesting fact about the item, however, is an indication of direction of U. S. official thinking; how internationalism creeps into even most traditional American branches of government.

The Department of Commerce, long considered as concerned solely with American business, is now encouraging the setting up within its framework a U. S. Travel Commission. Rep. Jacob J. Javits says he will introduce bill in forthcoming Congress to establish bureau.

Purpose of U. S. Travel Commission will be to help foreign governments persuade Americans with any money left after taxes for foreign aid to travel in Europe.

All kinds of rationalization is given for this effort.

It is not enough that more than $54 billion have already been stripped from U. S. taxpayers for foreign aid. Now it will become the duty of every wealthy American to lose a portion of his tax free income into Europe.

Many feel ever increasing official U. S. concern with foreign nations is a greater threat to Republic than communism.

Eagerness to set up a bureau to encourage Americans to travel in Europe is just another indication because anytime government sets up new bureau, taxpayers foot bill, and presumably this is supposed to be the time when expenses are to be pruned.

American shrines teach a lesson which is officially neglected. Nothing good is built on a foundation of paying tribute or blackmail. But it has been many generations since the halls of Congress rang with the cry of free men "Millions for defense, but not one cent for tribute."

Even after billions spent, Secretary of State Dulles is having trouble getting so-called free Europe to actually set up a joint army for their own protection.

Never before have Americans paid tribute to preserve peace. Today, billions are spent in an international blackmail scheme.

The foreign aid program since early days of European postwar relief has been on this basis... "either we give them money, or they'll start playing footsie with the Kremlin."

Even after billions spent, Secretary of State Dulles is having trouble getting so-called free Europe to actually set up a joint army for their own protection.

TAX FACTS

By George E. Mahin, Executive Secretary Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois

Some measure of progress in public education in Illinois is given by a comparison of present day schools with school operations 140 years ago, under an 1825 school law resurrected by the Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois.

Back in 1825, the tax for school purposes was against property, even as now. There were tax limitations then, too. The school tax could not exceed $10 against any property owner. This tax could be paid either in cash or in good merchandise produce. When the property owner elected to pay in produce, the teacher or teachers were given the power to collect.

Those people in the school district who had children between the ages of 5 and 21 years, or who attended the school themselves, had to help build or repair the school house and supply the school house with firewood. If any such inhabitant of the school district refused to do such work, he was fined 75c for each day that he neglected or refused to work.

Ah, those were the "good old days." Or were they?

A number of deductions are allowable to all motorists when figuring income tax returns even if their cars are used only for pleasure, reports the Chicago Motor club. They are: state license fee, state gasoline tax, sales tax, personal property tax driver's license fee. Losses for fire, theft, collision, or other casualties are 100 per cent deductible if not reimbursed by insurance or otherwise.

Various members were contacted regarding their willingness to accept nomination to the various offices at the election to be held at the March meeting. Since there has been some misunderstanding regarding the purpose of a nominating committee, it might be well to explain that a nominating committee does not determine who shall be elected. The real purpose of a nominating committee is to make sure there is some one willing to accept nomination to each of the various offices. Nominations of other candidates can always be made from the floor at the time of an election.

The regular monthly meeting of the Maue PTA will be held in the school Wednesday evening, Feb. 10. The nominating committee will give a report. Children will entertain in an unrehearsed performance in parts they have chosen for themselves. There will be demonstrations, recitations, musical numbers etc.

COLD MYSTERY

by Science Features

The common cold may be a simple illness to many people, but it is a complex problem for medical research. Scientists have made tremendous progress in developing drugs that cure and prevent serious maladies, but they are still trying to solve the mystery of the common cold.

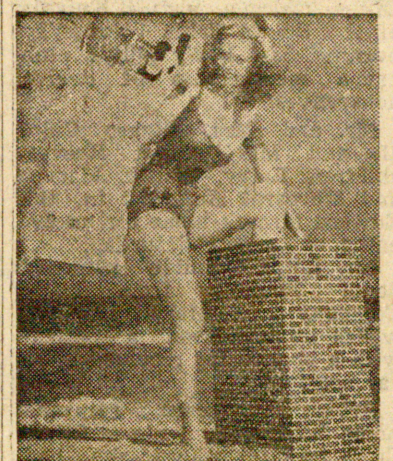

The cold, as well as other respiratory diseases such as influenza, "strep throat" and pneumonia, is caused by some of the smallest living creatures known, they are drawn into the nose, throat and lungs by the air we breathe, and multiply in the cell linings. Many of the viruses have been isolated and classified in the laboratories, but the common cold germ, thought to be the smallest of all, cannot be kept alive for study.

Statistics show that the average person has two colds a year that cause half of the absences from work, and are responsible for a 120 million dollar annual loss in wages.

It is paradoxical that there is no cure for this time-wasting annoying illness while serious respiratory diseases like pneumonia can be arrested with such new drugs as terramycin.

It's reassuring to know, however, that extensive research continues by the National Institute of Health, universities and pharmaceutical laboratories—so soon the common cold may go the way of other conquered diseases.

MRS. SANTA... She is lovely. This is Miami Beach's version of Mrs. Santa doing her chimney climbing in the warm southland.

HEALTH HORIZONS

Original "Miracle" Drug is 100 Years Old

In a discussion of "wonder" drugs, chances are the average person thinks of the brilliant antibiotic and sulfa drugs, and of a handful of other medicines like the new vaccine for polio. Probably the least likely to be mentioned is the most widely used drug in the world, which has also been called the "most useful drug ever found."

It is known to the medical and pharmaceutical professions as acetylsalicylic acid. The public knows it as aspirin. To many doctors it is the original "wonder" drug because, they say, aspirin is probably the safest and most effective pain-killer ever found. And it has hundreds of medical uses.

Aspirin's effectiveness in relieving headache pain is a fact familiar to people throughout the world. Dentists will often suggest a couple of aspirin tablets after a difficult extraction. Similarly, most people know that aspirin swiftly reduces fever caused by numerous ailments.

Not so familiar, however, is aspirin's usefulness as a pain-killer in such serious conditions as rheumatoid arthritis. Arthritics call it "the greatest blessing we have." Scientists studying rheumatic fever recently reported to the American Heart Association that aspirin, by and large, is as effective as the "miracle drugs" ACTH and cortisone.

Treating patients with various influenza-like infections, U.S. Air Force doctors at Chanute Field, Ill., found that aspirin reduced fever much quicker than Terramycin and erythromycin. They further stated that aspirin is not only just as effective, and much less expensive, but that continued use of antibiotics to treat flu, colds, etc., might result in building up immunities in the body.

This year marks aspirin's 100th birthday. The chemical gathered dust on a laboratory shelf until 1899, however, when The Bayer Company accidentally discovered it relieved headaches while testing it on an arthritis sufferer.

Free-Swinging from a single hitchpoint the plow follows contours naturally... high clearance helps you cover trash... natural line of draft assures uniform plowing depth.

Tough, spring steel frame and beams are set at right angles to each other and rigidly braced. No other design gives you so much resistance to twisting, springing or misalignment. Triple-strength shares—3/4 in. thick, with up to 20 percent more metal, give you correspondingly longer wear.

BABSON SAYS—

PEOPLE WILL HAVE MONEY TO BUY IN 1954

Washington, D. C. There has been a lot of loose talk about the rise in the cost of living and the ability of people to buy. Many readers have asked for dependable facts. Here are the official Government figures:

To a degree, whether people have money to buy depends on what they spend for their daily necessities. Living costs, without question, have been flattening out. From January 1, 1952, to date, consumer prices have risen less than 2%. This compares with a rise of 18% in 1946, a 6% jump in 1950, and a 4.5 percent push in 1951.

What makes these figures even more meaningful is the fact that, while living costs have risen less than 2% since January, 1952, hourly earnings in all manufacturing industries have risen about 8% during the same time. To have held prices down while wages have gone up is a great achievement on the part of manufacturers and merchants.

If people are to have money to buy, they must have jobs. Although our labor force normally increases by about 700,000 persons a year—for whom jobs must be provided—1953 figures show very little change from those of 1952. This is because new workers (young people) entering the labor market in 1953 just about equaled the number of people who left it.

What is really happening? Some workers have left the ranks of the employed to retire. Some wives who have been holding down full time jobs have decided to quit working out and to make a real home for their husbands. Many have not been replaced. These people do not swell the ranks of the unemployed; they simply deplete the ranks of the employed to whatever extent they are not replaced. Obviously, in retirement one has less income. Obvious, also, is the fact that when a wife ceases to supplement her husband's income, that couple will have less money to spend.

There's another angle to our problem: How much money people have hidden away in their socks. It may surprise you to learn that the top 50% of our families have readily convertible savings amounting to a staggering $97 billions. The bottom 50% share $1 billion in liquid savings. Our people have built up a $200 billion equity in their homes, with but a $50 billion mortgage debt. 60% of our families own $38 billions' worth of automobiles. And 50% of all families have a net worth greater than a year's income.

When the figures are all in, I am pretty sure that 1953 will prove to have broken all peace time records for savings. People spent much less than they made in 1953. Cash or readily convertible assets saved in 1953 could have soared to better than $16 billions, compared with about $3 billions in 1949 and about $12 billions in 1951. Perhaps the mad rush to buy is over. This is a healthy sign.

I like to see this trend, up to a certain point. However, too much money lying idle is bad for our economy. America, you see, is a country that actually develops its way to prosperity. And the way to keep prosperity is to keep raising our living standards higher and higher by creating more and more wants for more and more goods and services without proportionately increasing what people owe.

There are enough Americans who have money to spend in 1954 to hold business high. If, for example, the top 50% of our families with their $97 billions continue to hold their purchases high, the lower 50% will be kept busy producing. All groups will then have the funds necessary to satisfy their needs. We have a huge backlog of buying power. It's up to the sales and advertising brains of the country to get us to spend it.

Tinley School News

All interest in Room 302 is centered on the assembly program to be given on the last day of January.

Practice shows the value a room gets in cooperation and citizenship also brings out all kinds of characteristics. Hard workers for better grades and knowledge are showing up in unexpected places and it is hoped that the parents will enjoy the results of the training.

Everyone has been hard at work since the opening of school on Jan. 4. Although several have been out with colds and chicken pox, they come back as quickly as they can to do make up work.

Wednesday, room 400 took a field trip to the Chicago Historical society, the Academy of Science and the Conservatory in Lincoln Park. All exclaimed when they saw the many beautiful orchids in bloom.

The March of Dimes campaign has probably meant more to the pupils of room 400 than to any other group in the school, since Paul Buck, one of their classmates, was stricken with polio last fall. He is still in the Respiration Center at Illinois Research hospital. The children, with all their young enthusiasm have brought in $53 in nickels, dimes and pennies. Their goal is $100.

In the art classes all groups are working on compositions on the theme "The Pioneer Family." This is the culmination of a unit on figure drawing. They draw in colored chalk, their classmates posing in authentic costume.

Interests in room 100 range from modern combines to Egyptian mummies.

While the class is reading about American progress as shown in our many inventions, the pupils are assembling and working with model cars furnished by George Klaus and George Koester. George Klaus brought a model tractor and combine to school.

Recent experiences in letter writing brought to mind our trip to the Oriental Institute in Chicago, where pupils were impressed by the beauty of Queen Nefertete and the age and state of preservation of the mummies.

Soon we will be learning about the telephone and clipper ships.

Eighth graders are studying the Constitution of the United States. They have completed the study of the Declaration of Independence and have passed an examination as required by law. —Flora Rogers, Room 400.

Harvey YMCA Has Open House Event

On Sunday, January 24, the Harvey Memorial YMCA held its first open house. Visitors enjoyed going through the building and viewing exhibitions of various sports, crafts, games and special interest classes made available through a membership in the "Y".

A selected group of boys and girls as well as adults were given the opportunity of demonstrating what they had learned during the past year. Two Tinley Park boys, Stanley Zobac and Louis Matuzewich were so honored in the gymnastic class.

During the past year, there were 1,160 boys and 725 girls registered as members of the "Y".

Garden Club News

Members of the Tinley Park Garden club were greeted warmly on the regular meeting day Jan. 21 in the home of the president, Mrs. Baldwin. They were served a dessert luncheon, fruit salad and coffee.

The meeting was called to order and the minutes of the November and December meetings read. Recalled in the latter was the good time enjoyed at the all-day Christmas celebration in the village hall.

A letter of thanks from Emerson house was read, telling of how the children enjoyed the club's gift box, and a card from Mrs. Wyman at Dallas, Tex.

The Garden club will take part in the Modern Living exposition April 3 to 10 at Navy pier. It was decided to continue sponsorship of the Girl Scouts, and Mrs. Swisher reported on delivery of 56 current magazines to patients at Oak Forest. Mrs. Baldwin expressed her thanks for the poinsettia plant she received, and Mrs. Mager for a birthday song for her. A donation was voted to the March of Dimes.

Among the many nice plans made for future meetings was the annual valentine gift exchange for next month.

Mrs. Feil, who had arranged the program, was ill and it was postponed to another meeting! The February meeting will be held at 12:30 pm. in the home of Mrs. Ava Funk.—Mrs. R. J. Hug secretary.

Religion and A. A.

Lesson for 1954

SINCE this week's Bible study has to do with temperance, this is a good place to call the reader's attention to a notable little (108 pages) book, "A Sober Faith," by G. Aiken Taylor. (Macmillan Co., New York City, $2.00.) The author, a young minister, has been impressed by two things: the harm liquor does, and how little the church has done to help its victims. He believes that both AA ("Alcoholics Anonymous") and the church have something to learn from each other.

The Problem Drinker

The Alcoholic Foundation figures that in America, between three million and four million persons are "problem drinkers." A problem drinker is not yet an alcoholic; but he is next door to being one. He has a regular king-size hangover every Monday morning, only as he goes on and on, the hangover runs into the week till toward the bottom of the slide he would regard himself as fortunate if all he lost was a mere week-end. He may not be quite an alcoholic; but he is a problem to his friends, his family, his boss, his business, and to himself. But he does not realize the worst feature of his problem: he is only one step removed from being an alcoholic. One thing Mr. Aiken suggests, he says always arouses controversy. But why should it? There is just one sure way of not being an alcoholic and that is not to become a problem drinker. And there is only one sure way of not being a problem drinker; that is not to start with the first drink. Yes, it is as simple as that.

The Alcoholic

The alcoholic is more than a problem drinker. He is a thoroughly sick man. No effort of will, no sanitarium, no advice, no fear of disgrace or pain or death—nothing short of sheer force will keep him from getting drunk and staying so. These are the people with whom AA works and of whom in fact AA is composed. AA began about 18 years ago with a doctor who had lost his patients and a business man whose business had folded up—both on account of liquor.

The Twelve Steps

Mr. Aiken's book goes through the "twelve steps" which are both the creed and the practice of AA. shows how they work, and calls special attention to the genuinely religious quality of the program. Here are some of the Steps: 1. "We admitted we were powerless over alcohol." (Conversion begins when a man realizes and admits his own helplessness.) 3. "We made a decision to turn our will and our lives over to the care of God as we understood him." (This is of the essence of religion.) 7. "We humbly asked God to remove our shortcomings." (An alcoholic who wants to be "cured" and yet go on as he is, is a hopeless case.) 9. "We made direct amends to people we had harmed, wherever possible." (It is very impressive. Mr. Aiken writes, to see an ex-alcoholic paying back alimony freely, or reviewing some shady business deal in which he had come out with more than his share.) 1. "We sought... to improve our conscious contact with God as we understood him, praying only for knowledge of his will for us and the power to carry it out." 12. "We tried to carry this message to alcoholics and to practice these principles in all our affairs."

AA and Religion

Questions will occur to every one interested. What exactly does the AA group do to help alcoholics? Is the religion of AA the same as Christianity? Why don't the churches have as good a record for saving such cases? "A Sober Faith" is an attempt to answer such questions. One of the author's comments must be quoted here: "Impotence, dependence, fellowship, service... They are the stages in a profound religious experience. If the (reclaimed) alcoholic hasn't got religion he has something suspiciously like it!" Mr. Aiken poses another question: The AA assumes that God can be known almost by instinct. Is it not true, rather, that we would not have known about the God of faith if he had not revealed himself in Christ? "Quotations by permission of Macmillan Co.
